Madison Teachers Asked to Volunteer

Transfers to Integrate Faculty Required to Fulfill Court Order

The Madison board of education is asking all of the teachers in the district to volunteer to accept transfers to different schools as the first step in compliance with a federal court order to integrate the faculty in the district.

At its regular monthly meeting Thursday night, the board approved a form letter seeking voluntary assistance. The letters were to be mailed Friday and today, and Raymond Dragic, school superintendent, hopes to have answers from the teachers by July 31.

The order to integrate the faculty in all schools of the district was issued last Monday in U. S. district court in Springfield in a suit filed by the U. S. Justice Department.

Supt. Dragic told the board that if there is not a sufficient number of volunteers, the board will be required to make the transfers in accordance with the court orders.

Provide Records

He added that since the board is under the federal court jurisdiction for the next couple of years, the board will be required to provide records of decisions and actions for inspection by the court.

"We must report to the federal court almost everything that transpires in this district," he said.

Among such actions are negotiations and settlement of a new contract with the Madison Federation of Teachers.

Following a closed executive session which lasted nearly an hour, the board issued the following statement through its president, Chester McManaway:

"Inasmuch as our district is under the jurisdiction of the U. S. district court and the district must and will be run in accordance with federal court directives and the state school code, the board will draw up a salary schedule that is equitable and present it to the teachers at a later date."

Negotiations Stalled

Contract negotiations were broken in June toward the end of the school year, but the Press-Record was told that Rex Carr, attorney for the teachers' union, is seeking to resume talks next week.

Lack of a contract delayed the opening of school last fall as the board and the union were deadlocked on salary terms.

During the executive session, the board reconsidered assignments in the employment of five new teachers. Mrs. Jerry D. Winston, a Negro teacher who is a bachelor of arts degree holder, Harris Teachers College was switched from an appointment

Local Executive Relates Experiences at Moon Launch

Editor's Note
The following account of the Apollo 11 moon launch was written by J. S. M. Dashwood, president of the local Union Division of Miles Laboratories Inc., who received an invitation from NASA for the launching last week.

"Invitation to the Moon Launch"
It came in the off mail in one of those pale blue envelopes with fancy lettering. I, as some direct mail promoter. How many busy men to it have come close to putting it into the wastebasket!

"Dr. Thomas O. Lane, administrator, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, invites you to attend the launching of Apollo 11."

To reach Cape Kennedy in time to see the Spitz Center the same day, you have to catch the 6:40 a.m. plane from St. Louis, and that's getting up at dawn, and lightening the big rabbit on the lawn with the noise of the car. On the way to the airport, the car radio switched from "calves 100, weaners 33..." to the announcer's cheerful "this time tomorrow we'll be all tensed up for the moon launch." Then came the Lord's Prayer

Alert Citizens Aid Police in Burglar Suspect Capture

Citizen cooperation was credited early Sunday morning with the arrest of a burglar suspect following a break-in at the Madison post office, Madison avenue at Sixth street.

Police were alerted at 1:35 a.m. by a resident of the house who had seen a man climb from bushes on the north side of the building and pound a pane of glass until he broke it and then climb inside.

Upon arriving at the post office, police found two men fled from the building and noticed blood on the window sill.

The burglar had tied but was spotted on Sixth street and finally taken into custody in the 1700 block of Rhodes street where he was seen to throw several articles in a driveway.

Police found three envelopes in the driveway that were identified as having been taken from a desk in the post office. They contained a U. S. savings bond, an Army check and an Illinois

Three persons were killed and three others were injured when autos driven by Tracy D. Lindsey, 22, of St. Jacob, and Harry S. O'Brien, 62, of Troy, collided at 8:15 p.m. Thursday on Interstate 270 a half mile west of Route 157.

State Rule Threat to Local 'Clean Air' Enforcement

lack of money is the major stumbling block to full compliance as Granite City to state requirements necessary to stop emission from the state pollution control act.

The Granite City air control board has been seeking a federal grant of about $2,000 for more than a year to permit employment of a full-time technical secretary. Several months ago Granite City air board officials met in Springfield with federal representatives, C. W. Klassen, technical secretary of the state air control board, and Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health concerning Granite City's application for Federal aid.

Bieniecke said that meeting ended with little progress because Dr. Yoder required additional information. Another such meeting has been set for July 28. Dr. Yoder's office is in Springfield, Bieniecke said today.

Consider Revision

"However, we are considering revision of the original application to provide for employment of a full-time engineer on a full-time basis, rather than a full-time technical secretary," Bieniecke said.

"It might be wiser to hire an engineer who would work under direction of Professor Hoelscher (Erwin Hoelscher, part-time technical secretary) because new entrants into this specialized field can be expected to move to bigger jobs as they acquire experience, and we can expect a turnover in technical help."

Bieniecke said the state's revision of the application is expected to be completed by July 28.

Beautification Plan Covers Broadway, Madison, Nameoki

Formation of 40 committees to carry out various types of beautification at 14 points along Broadway, Madison avenue and Nameoki road was recommended here Thursday night by the Beautification Committee of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce of the Tri-Cities.

If a detailed report submitted at the meeting is approved by the committee, division and Chamber board, the program will be placed in effect this fall, with local organizations asked to undertake specific assignments.

The report by Harland Bartholomew and Associates outlines possible improvements in the appearance of public, semi-public and private property along the three streets, which form a thoroughfare through the Quad-Cities. Both immediate and long-range steps are included.

Plantings, Renewal, Parks

Planting of trees, shrubs and flowers is proposed along with visual screening, renewal of unsightly property, relocation of some utility lines, establishment of decorative plazas and entrance parks and other improvements.

"In every instance, some organization or agency should be given the prime responsibility for carrying out these particular short-range or long-range beautification projects," the planning, engineering, landscape architecture and urban renewal firm noted.

"In some instances, the municipal should be approached to past various types of ordinances or to initiate some type of program, such as a renewal project or demolition program.

Miss Judith Spurrier of Granite City, bachelor of science degree from Northern Illinois University with one year of experience, to teach at the high school; and Roger Drake of Bethalto, bachelor's degree from Southern Missouri State College, assigned to elementary physical education duties.

The board accepted resignations from Miss Louise Frickie, fourth grade teacher at Louis Baer school, and Mrs. Beatrice Clinton, a cook at the junior high school, both of whom are retiring.

In other actions, the board received a letter from Maddox Motors of Granite City, supplier of the driver-education car for the past two years, stating that it is unable to continue to supply such autos. Supt. Dragich is to contact other auto agencies in an effort to obtain another car.

The superintendent told to have a new class period bell system installed at the high school at a cost of about $2500. Dragich said the old system has been inoperative for the past two years and has caused confusion in three-minute classroom transfer breaks.

Area Resident Aiding Destitute Indians in Black Hills

Thousands of motorists speeding along Interstate 90 through the flat, desolate expanse of South Dakota's mid-section to vacation spots in the Black Hills or Washington, for the most part are totally unaware that just a few miles south of the cross-country highway five the remnants of a once-prosperous Sioux Nation.

One area family, deeply touched by the plight of the Sioux and horrified by living conditions they personally found on the Pine Ridge and Rosebud Indian Reservations in South Dakota, resolved to help remedy conditions to some extent by soliciting aid from their neighbors, friends and other interested persons in their home community and elsewhere.

Prime motivator in the project is Cletus Wilson, 411 East O'Fallon street, Caseyville, a welder at American Steel Foundries here, who was granted permission recently by Granite City municipal authorities to seek contributions in the local community for the American Indian Developing Organization.

GC Jaycees Invite Young Men to Join

One of the most active young men's service organizations in Illinois—the Granite City Jaycees—is inviting local and area young people aged 21 and 35 to join the club during the current membership drive.

Through the recruitment campaign, launched last week at a club meeting, the club hopes to enlarge its membership to 135, according to Stanley Noel, Jaycee president.

Stanley Brown, club vice-president and chairman of the membership drive said that prospective Jaycees will find many diversified projects and programs appealing to the individual's personal taste, whether their interest lies in youth work, athletics, charitable enterprises, educational pursuits or "just plain fellowship."

Several projects sponsored by the Jaycees continued to be conducted in cooperation with local bowling lanes which resulted in two plastic crib covers being presented to the pediatric ward of St. Elizabeth Hospital, together with a party for youngsters confined to the hospital at Christmastime.

Yuletide gift baskets were delivered to needy families and children at Christmastime. A playground site in the West Granite area is being equipped and developed for neighborhood children.

Repeating their attraction for hundreds of participating youth, Jaycees were two traditional Jaycee events—the annual homecoming celebration and the Miss Granite City Pageant.

On Halloween Night, the club sponsored a costume dance for young people at Nameki Village shopping center and furnished free bus transportation to the event.

A mock "presidential election" was conducted by the club prior to the annual elections, and other projects included the first annual "Battle of the Bands" contest at Wilson Park pavilion in September and a special program through which families of servicemen in Vietnam received an opportunity to call their husbands and fathers overseas.

Last year, also, the club tried to furnish daily lunches for the entire school year for a McKinley school pupil; and helped underwrite the expenses of Miss Granite City during appearances on behalf of the Tri-Cities United Fund campaign.

"As in previous years, the Jaycees continued to assist Elizabeth Hospital staff members each first Saturday of the month at the hospital's free immunization clinic and volunteer are helping at the current typhoid inoculation clinics. They also are helping at the Church Day; and had several members honored by the district, state and national Jaycee organizations for outstanding achievement."

The Granite City chapter was organized in the early 1940's and next month, members will face one of the biggest projects in the club's entire history—sponsoring of the Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree, a statewide track and field meet for hundreds of youngsters from all sections of Illinois.

The Jamboree is the second such state sports competition to be held in the local community. The first one, staged here in 1966, attracted several thousand visitors and contestants to the area. This summer's meet promises to be "bigger and better," club officials note.

Prospective Jaycees members may receive further information about the organization by contacting Brown, at 876-3887, or Noel, at 876-3887, or by writing to the Jaycees for an application at Post Office Box 3, Granite City.

Service Station Prizes

Edwards Gulf Service, 20th and Iowa streets, and Branding's Mobil Service, Niedringhaus avenue and the railroad tracks, are among the quad-city Gasoline Dealers Association members offering six free bicycles as part of a current program of the association. Recipients are to be announced Aug. 15.

Ticketed in Accident

The right rear door of an auto driven by Lester O. Grimes, 2800 Edwards street, was struck by a car driven by Vina J. Brantley, Rural Route One, at 7:35 a.m. Friday at East 23rd street and Lee avenue. Grimes was charged with a right-of-way violation with a stop sign present.

Indians after they visited the Red Reservation in Arizona. Their interest was heightened when they heard U. S. Senator George McGovern, (D), South Dakota, discuss deprivation of the Sioux in two television talks.

The couple influenced others to join them in the project and the non-profit organization was founded.

The obvious, deep-rooted concern for the Sioux tribe expressed by Wilson is not without some personal implication to the ASP worker, it was learned.

Wilson, 45, was born in south-east Missouri, the son of a full-blooded Cherokee father and a mother who was Shoshone and Irish. He was reared near Chester, Ill., and has resided in Caseyville since 1963.

Parents of Ten

The Wilsons have ten children. The youngest is seven and the oldest, a son, 20, recently entered the Army and is stationed at Fort Leonard Wood. The other nine children all live at home.

Wilson built a portable enclosure garage in which he began collecting clothing and other miscellaneous items he thought the Indians could use.

On Oct. 8, he loaded a pickup truck with his collection of goods and made a trip to Pine Ridge. On Nov. 10, he took a second shipment of clothing and household items to the reservation.

While there, Wilson discussed among the reservation dwellers most urgent needs was a means of transportation. Distances are so considerable across the two large reservations, estimated at 8400 square miles, that travel is difficult, especially in winter.

The Indian families are required to go once a month to pick up their federal commodities. Wilson explained, adding that some Indian children in church organized boarding schools built on the reservation are seldom visited due to lack of transportation.

To help lighten this burden, the Wilsons with the help of fellow workers at American Steel and others acquired two used buses and a quantity of donated parts and clothing.

This spring, the entire family once more set out for South Dakota with the two gift buses, the total value of which came close to $500. Spare tires, spare motors, jumper cables and fuel tanks, all donated to or purchased by the organization, were loaded inside.

They towed a camper pickup truck behind one bus to pack over the reservation to the return trip home.

The median income per Indian family is less than $800 yearly. Their major sources of income is from leasing of crop, hay and grazing lands to Indian and non-Indian operators, Wilson explained. There is only one industry, making moccasins for sale off the reservation which provides little remuneration.

About 50% live in one or two room log cabins. Some still live in tents or frame houses for the most part, a few have improved housing, furnished by the government.

The land is rolling, treeless for the most part, a wasteland of sand and rocks. Wilson commented that he was astonished at the distances the Indians would travel to find a log to patch a cabin.

Water is available only in limited quantities. Cost of drilling a well is prohibitive and about 50% haul water from wells and streams more than a mile from their homes. Much of the water used appears contaminated, found in ponds, streams, and bog-like areas.

Wilson noted that the average life span of a reservation Indian is 42 years and the infant death rate is 150 times that of the white race. A total of 37,442 Indians are registered with the government on the South Dakota reservation.

Bikes, Parts Needed

Used bicycles and spare bicycle parts donated to the area organization will provide youngsters on the reservation a way to get to school. Distances are so considerable across the two large reservations, estimated at 8400 square miles, that travel is difficult, especially in winter.

The Indian families are required to go once a month to pick up their federal commodities. Wilson explained, adding that some Indian children in church organized boarding schools built on the reservation are seldom visited due to lack of transportation.

To help lighten this burden, the Wilsons with the help of fellow workers at American Steel and others acquired two used buses and a quantity of donated parts and clothing.

MORE ABOUT Beautification

way viaduct and from the viaduct to Second street.

Madison beautification sites are bounded by Seventh and 12th streets, with Granite City area dividing lines at 16th, 20th, 24th and 30th streets, Johnson road, Richmond avenue, Pontoon road and Interstate 270.

East 23rd Street Project

A separate area proposed for beautification is East 23rd street from August avenue to Nameki road.

The report commented that local cities "have a problem common to most American communities—the overall appearance of certain sections of the city."

Nameki road is unique in that it serves as a major street for all three communities.

"The various land uses and improvements along this route have been developed over a long period of time by many separate individuals, companies and agencies. The various improvements have been completed from August avenue to state agencies."

Development Mixture

"A mixture of 42 years and the end result has been a mixed pattern with inappropriate and unfortunate relationships. It is a mixture of good, bad, new, old and other contrasts."

"The route serves as an important thoroughfare for traffic circulation within the entire urban area. It is the main route for two of the three busiest districts and is basically the focal point of all three cities."

"It is, therefore, important that every effort be made to make this route a fine thoroughfare with sound buildings, adequate traffic capacity and good appearance combined with proper urban design."

Those meeting with the Beautification Committee included Donald Partney, mayor of Granite City; Henry D. Karandseff, local banker; and Wayne Seifert, ornamental horticulturist with the University of Illinois Extension Service.

Water Squirted in Home

Clifford Bopp, 1322 Carr street, reported at 3:45 p.m. Thursday that vandals broke a pane of glass out of the rear door of his home and used a hose to squirt water into the house, causing damage.

Excessive Noise Charge

Donald Barr, 29, St. Louis, was issued an arrest ticket at 3 a.m. Saturday by Venice police in the 500 block of Broadway on a charge of making excessive noise with a motorcycle.

Levee Board Bill Calls for OK on Building Plans

An ordinance under which subdividers, builders and developers would be required to submit all plans for construction to the East Side Levee and Sanitary district for final approval was placed on first reading by the levee board of trustees in a special meeting this morning.

The ordinance provides that the levee district shall inspect and examine and "make a determination regarding the adequacy of the surface water drainage method and plan, and if determined to be an adequate plan . . . (the levee board) shall approve the same plan or plan."

William "Mike" Ebersoldt of Venice, Madison county member of the levee board, introduced the ordinance. Ebersoldt, during recent flooding throughout the area, said many of the drainage problems in Madison and St. Clair counties result from a disregard of drainage provisions by subdividers and developers.

Final Action Needed
The bill will be subject to final adoption in the levee board's Aug. 6 meeting. The measure was approved unanimously this morning with a minimum of discussion.

Provisions of the ordinance do not refer to individual home builders, but do apply to "builders of any road, street or other way" or any construction affecting surface or stormwater drainage.

Ebersoldt said terms of the bill therefore "cover the Illinois State Highway department" which levee board members frequently have charged are responsible for negligence in providing ample drainage in areas of new highway construction.

Principal provision of the ordinance states:

"Any map, plat, or plan of construction, relocation or reconstruction of any road, street or other way, or any construction affecting surface or stormwater drainage, and all subdivision plats or plans pertaining to lands or roads within the territorial limits of the East Side Levee and Sanitary district of St. Clair and Madison counties, Illinois, shall be submitted to the board of trustees of the district for their approval, before any construction is undertaken to said plan."

Joan Baez, New Christy Minstrels, Richie Havens this week at MRF

Tonight, tomorrow and Wednesday, the Mississippi River Festival will present three con-certs covering the entire spec-trum of the folk music move-ment today. The concerts will begin each night at 8:30, on the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus.

Performers this evening will be the New Christy Minstrels with their finger-snagging, sing-along style of folk music. Richie Havens will sing and strum his special blend of folk pop and blues on Tuesday night. Feat-ured with Havens will be The Eddie Fisher Trio, a local group of black jazz musicians.

On Wednesday night, "Joan Baez will perform. Bailing with rhythm, the seven boys and two girls who are the New Christy Minstrels have brought their skilled mus-ic, outgoing personalities and bouncy beat to a point of the globe. They have paved the way for the introduction of folk oriented entertainers to audi-ences in nightclubs, supper clubs, the concert circuit, on television and in the record industry.

The New Christy Minstrels made their first European tour in 1965, winning first and second prizes at the Rmo Festival. They were the first folk group to head off at the Copacabana in New York, and the first to have their own regu-larly scheduled television show.

umns of the White House when they appeared there at the in-vitation of former President Johnson.

The Minstrels perform as soloists and as a group, accom-panying themselves on banjos, guitars and bass. They pattern their own contemporary sing-ing style after a company of pre-Civil War entertainers cre-ated by Edwin "Pops" Christy.

The original group rolicked through the country with corn-ball jokes, slapstick comedy and folk songs and are cred-ited with introducing Stephen Foster's greatest songs.

Their clean-cut and typically American appearance is an in-tegral part of the New Christy Minstrels. They are proba-bly the only recording artists to have all songs written by a former President of the United States. Dwight D. Eisenhower wrote for their album, "Land of Giants, "I wish you and your fine group continued suc-cess and salute you and your patriotic effort."

In addition to their many in-ter-person and television per-formances, their record albums are best sellers throughout the U.S. and the group's multi-lingual renditions are in demand in Europe and Asia. Figures re-cently released by Columbia Records show that their last six albums reached an aggregate total of five million copies, not including singles, which surpass that figure.

Richie Havens was born in 1941 in Brooklyn, N. Y., and was the oldest of nine children. His father was a pianist who earned his living as an elec-traplayer. To help support the family, his mother worked in a bookbinding factory. Play for Havens was singing on street corners with other neighborhood kids.

By the time he was 14, he had organized a group called the McCreas Gospel Singers. "It was just for fun," Havens says. "At this point I really thought I'd be a surgeon."

He was a good student, but dropped out of high school say-ing, "It was time I guess. I've always known when it was time." He also left home when he was seventeen. The driving force to find out, to do, to be that caused him to leave, is still the propelling force in Havens' personality.

In 1962, at the height of the folk music revival, Richie turned to music. He moved to Greenwich Village for the next few years, gaining a large un-derground following. With his first album he began receiving serious attention from outside the Village.

Featured with Richie Havens is an extremely talented local group of black artists that has appeared at popular clubs both in Chicago and the St. Louis area—the Eddie Fisher Trio.

The basic trio consisting of guitarist Eddie Fisher, bass William Dew, and drummer Je-rome Harris, will be augmented on the program by pianist Ken-neth Hosier. Prior to forming his own group, Fisher played with the nationally famous Sol-omon Burke rock group and the Leon Goodman Jazz Quintet, plus the widely-respected Oliver Nelson Band.

Projects Reality Joan Baez was born in Staten Island in 1941. Her mother was English-Scottish, the daughter of an Episcopal minister and professor of dramatic art who emigrated to the United States. Her father was born in Mexico and was also a minister's child. He made physics his life's work and is now a consultant for UNESCO.

As a child of a Mexican, Joan Baez soon discovered bigotry in the schools of Redlands, Calif.

THE NEW CHRISTY MINSTRELS
Popular Recording Group

Her interest in music began to develop while in high school at Palo Alto, Calif., but she did not become serious about it until her family moved to Boston after high school. Her father introduced her to Tulla's Coffee Grinder, a place where amate-urs could bring their guitars and sing.

Her real career began when a fellow folksinger invited her to the first Newport Folk Festi-val in 1959. There she astounded the audience of 13,000.

Since then, she has become the most significant woman in the folk field, but her interest is not in the origins of folk music. "I don't care very much about where a song came from or why, or even what it says. All I care about is how it sounds and the feeling in it."

Ralph Gleason wrote in the San Francisco Chronicle, "She is natural and real, and the way she is on stage is the way she is at breakfast. It is this utter reality, plus the glowing human-ity of her personality, and the remarkable gift for vocal com-munication she possesses that makes her appeal so incredibly strong."

I was the young folksinger's request that seat prices for her appearance at the Mississippi River Festival not exceed $2.

She waived her guarantee that more persons might hear her sing at popular prices. Seating on the grass is available at $1 per person for Miss Baez's per-formance at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Reserved seating for 10,000 may be purchased at $1.50 for adults and $1 for children the evening of a concert.

Tickets are available in the Quad-Cities at Reese Tri Cor Pharmacy, 21st street and Madison avenue, or the SIU-SW Festival box office.

SIU Trustees Ok This Classroom

An addition to the new Humanities Building now on the architect's drawing boards, will replace about 4,000 square feet of classroom space lost on the Carbondale campus of Southern Illinois University because of the June 8 Old Main fire.

The University's board of trustees, meeting at Carbondale Friday, authorized the architect to expand their designing.

Funds for replacing space lost in the fire were contained in a bill approved by the General Assembly.

President Deloye W. Morris of SIU said addition of the space to a building planned for early construction would be the quietest way to recoup the fire loss. Morris said it was felt re-construction of the old, ornate structure, would be too expensive and the site was too close-ly ringed by other buildings for present day fire safety stand-ards.

The board discussed but took no action on proposals for a memorial at the site of the old building.

'Con Con' Report To Precede Urban Hearings in Area

Hearings by the Madison-St. Clair Counties Regional Advisory Committee will follow its constitutional convention recommendations to the Illinois Commission on Urban Area Government, it was decided at the second meeting of the committee Thursday evening at Sunset Hill Holiday Inn.

Edward G. Maag, East St. Louis attorney, chairman, presided. The next meeting was set for noon Thursday, July 31, at East St. Louis.

With "con con" proposals required by early fall, the regional committee will depend on its 30 members and on selected outside sources for data used in preparing a list of recommendations.

Nine committees formed in the chief population centers are to submit their conclusions to the statewide commission, which then will decide on a set of recommendations for forwarding to Governor Richard B. Ogilvie prior to the time he opens the convention Dec. 8.

Principal work of the commission and its regional groups will be to help develop legislative programs in the urban field for the 77th General Assembly opening in January 1971. These are to be completed by the committees by June 1, 1970, and the project will include hearings in Madison and St. Clair counties.

Bill Lists $237,000 For Depot Incinerator

The House Armed Services Committee of Congress has approved a $237,000 allocation to the Granite City Armory Depot for installation of an incinerator to dispose of the depot's trash and garbage refuse.

Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) announced at Washington this morning.

Cong. Price said the allocation will permit installation of an incinerator that will dispose of three tons of refuse an hour and permit the Army to comply with air pollution control regulations of both federal and Illinois air pollution control agencies. Refuse now is disposed of by open burning which is not in compliance with anti-pollution rules, Price said.

Congressman Price, who is a member of the Armed Services Committee, said the allocation is included in the 1971 fiscal military construction authorization bill. The measure is now going to the House for consideration.

3 Local Scouts In Flag Ceremony At Seattle, Wash.

(Special from Jamboree)

Four Explorer Scouts from the Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council were chosen to lower the flag at the Pacific Science Center in Seattle, Wash., Saturday. The boys participating were John Tarpoft, Senior Patrol Leader; Duane Parrish, Junior Assistant Scoutmaster; Craig Maer, Troop, Scribble; all of Granite City, and Jim Lowe from Greenville.

The trip to Seattle was part of the troop's trip prior to the Jamboree being held at Farragut State Park, Idaho. While visiting the center the troop was chosen to participate in the flag lowering ceremony.

The four Illinois Scouts were accompanied on the trip by a scout from an Indiana Council. For the flag lowering all troops at the center were assembled for the ceremony. The five Region Seven representatives along with all troops assembled in the center following the ceremony.

Illinois county superintendents of schools will hold their annual meeting in Springfield, July 30 and 31. It was announced today by Ray Page, Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction. The 102 superintendents and their assistants will convene at the Holiday Inn East to discuss current educational projects on both the state and federal level.

Verne E. Cracker, Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, will preside at the opening session at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, July 30. R. B. Mades, (Kane county) president of the Illinois Association of County Superintendents of Schools, and Supt. Page will speak at the opening session. Gov. Ogilvie will be the speaker at the Wednesday banquet at 6:30 p.m. His topic will be "The Governor Reports."

Among the subjects to be discussed are the new state aid formula, new transportation formula, mandatory special education, recognition of schools, vocational education, state and federal programs, instructional television and new legislation by the recent General Assembly affecting the state office and the county superintendents of schools of five.

1970 State License Applications in Mail

Mailing of pre-printed applications to passenger car owners for 1970 registration of their cars has started, Secretary of State Paul Powell announced today. Applications for all of the 4,300,000 passenger cars currently registered will be mailed to owners by the end of August. Motorists wishing to retain their 1969 numbers will have their applications at least 30 days prior to the Sept. 30 deadline for reassignment applications to be in his office.

Applications for 1970 registrations may be submitted any time after they are received, but mailing of plates will not begin until about Oct. 15.

Powell warned motorists that the 1970 plates may not legally be displayed on the vehicles until Dec. 1, 1969. The applications need only be signed, notarized, any corrections entered and returned with the fee and the 1968 registration card. They carry the fee schedule which becomes effective with 1970 registrations enacted by the recent session of the General Assembly. The fees are $18 for cars up to 35 horsepower and $30 for those more than 35 horsepower.

Hauling Refuse by Barge Could Be Costly

(Seventh of a series)

Proximity of the Mississippi River and its extensive barging operations make it appropriate to consider the possibilities of barging refuse to a suitable point of disposal, Horner & Shiffrin, consulting engineers, report.

This method is used for some of the large-scale refuse disposal operations in New York City and in several cities in Europe. Presuming shredding and/or compaction processes similar to those proposed for rail haul operations, it is probable that the capital costs of barge transfer stations would be substantially greater than those required for rail transfer.

This is true because working facilities would be required at both the loading and unloading sites.

Extra Handling Step

It also appears probable that the baled refuse or compacted containers would be required to be transported overland at the disposal end of the operation, possibly some distance, thereby adding another step in material handling.

The level of the Mississippi River in the St. Louis area has a potential variation of 50 feet between the stage at low flows and that which would occur at the highest anticipated flood stage.

This would impose additional problems in both construction and operation. Some interruption might be anticipated because of high river stages and excessive rain, which would carry the river in cold weather.

Handy Potential Landfills

As long as there are potential sanitary landfill sites in close proximity to the centers of refuse production of the three-county area—and in view of the probability that rail haul would be more feasible than barging for the local situation despite the lower freight rates to be expected from barging—there appears to be little justification for pursuing barging operations for transporting refuse produced within Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties.

The engineers conclude that no further consideration should be given to such barging at this time.

The discussion this summer of population factors, existing refuse collection and disposal systems, refuse quantities and refuse hauling between collection and disposal points leads next to the topic of refuse disposal methods.

The two principal accepted methods of refuse disposal of mixed municipal refuse practiced by major U. S. communities are sanitary landfill and incineration.

Open burning dumps are not considered acceptable means of disposal.

All communities in which some control is exercised over refuse disposal are served by landfills, some operated with relatively primitive methods and others employing more sophisticated techniques.

Incinerators Leave Residue
Even those larger communities which have adopted incinerators as the primary disposal method must maintain landfills to dispose of incinerator residue as well as materials which cannot be burned.

A third method of disposal of portions of refuse—composting combined with salvage—is practiced only to a limited extent in the U. S. Such processes must be supplemented by landfills to dispose of non-salvageable and non-compostable materials.

Many investigations and research projects, most performed under the general direction of the U. S. Public Health Service, are in progress in attempts to develop economical and sanitary alternative disposal processes.

Research Not Complete
Some of these show promise, but they have not yet been developed to degrees permitting their use as primary means of disposal on a large scale.

Research also is in progress on methods and techniques aimed at improving the existing landfill and incineration processes.

Sanitary landfill is described briefly as compaction and burial of mixed solid wastes in a sanitary manner. Public health authorities accept it as satisfactory when sites are properly selected and operations are conducted in accord with rigid procedures.

Numerous landfills have been successful in providing economical refuse disposal with relatively good public acceptance.

Open Burning Was Common
Until recently, the only method of disposing of refuse in large quantities in the three counties was open dumping with open burning.

Nuisances and hazards from these practices have resulted in adverse public reaction. State and county authorities' efforts in the past year have succeeded in reducing the nuisances and hazards significantly. But only four of the disposal sites now are operated essentially in full compliance with sanitary landfill regulations.

Others still are the subject of complaints by adjacent property owners. It should be recognized that no matter what disposal method is used, it will be necessary to maintain some sanitary landfill.

Many objects and materials cannot be incinerated or composted and require burial.

Compaction, Burial Best
Even when refuse is burned in a well-designed and operated incinerator, the resulting residue requires disposal. While such residue has been known to be used as cover material for landfills, it may contain enough unburned putrescible material to require that it be disposed of by sanitary landfill methods.

Landfill rules have been prepared by the Division of Sanitary Engineering of the Illinois Department of Public Health in accord with requirements of the Illinois Refuse Disposal Law.

Both Madison and St. Clair counties have enacted ordinances incorporating the state regulations as well as provisions for permits for and inspection of sanitary landfills. As of December 1968, only Madison county had actively effected enforcement of the ordinance provisions.

'Under the rules currently in effect, it is possible for conscientious operators to perform sanitary landfill in a manner acceptable to public health officials.

Fences, Roads Lacking
Most existing sanitary landfills still lack certain of the site improvements called for, such as adequate fencing, all-weather access roads, personnel shelters, sanitary facilities and fire protection.

Operational deficiencies also are apparent in existing landfills. The main deficiency is failure to cover each day the refuse that has been received. This deficiency is most prevalent during rainy weather, when it is difficult to operate compaction and covering equipment, and in extremely cold weather, when the cover material may be frozen.

Operators claim it often is difficult to complete the daily cover before nightfall.

Despite the improvements still needed and the difficulties in operation, the quality of the local landfills has steadily improved since state and county authorities have been actively enforcing the regulations.

Next: Site requirements.

Others to appear on tomorrow night's program will be June Nightwine Branding, a graduate of the local high school and SIU-Carbondale, a former vocal music teacher in the Granite City school system; Raymond Voorhees, another local high school graduate and of SIU-SW who teaches vocal music in the local school system.

Lightning Hits GC Home; Spotty Showers Thursday

Lightning struck at least one house in Granite City during Thursday afternoon's thunderstorm that hit about 2:30 with heavy showers in several areas of the Quad-Cities.

A lightning bolt knocked a 5x15-foot section of siding off the house of Frank Rodgers Jr., 2515 Lincoln avenue, a Press-Record printer. No one was injured in the mishap, and there was no blaze.

While many areas of the Quad-Cities escaped the rain, there were "downpours" in the Nameoki area of Granite City, where streets were flooded and motorists were unable to see to drive and were forced to pull off the pavement to wait for an end to the brief showers.

Flooded streets were reported in the vicinity of Woodlawn avenue, Pontoon road in front of Nameoki grade school and West Pontoon road at Rode avenue, as well as sections of Nameoki road.

The rain gauge at the Chain of Rocks canal registered a mere .04-inch for Thursday after showing no rain for six days.

Sailor Frank Vivod Aboard Icebreaker

Engineerman Third Class Frank G. Vivod, USCG, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Vivod, 2804 Iowa street, is presently serving aboard the USCGC Southwind.

A polar breaker, the Southwind will be spending four months along the northwestern coast of Greenland and will participate in the annual resupplying of such remote U.S. outposts as Thule and Sandstrom Air Force Bases.

The icebreaker will serve as an escort from open sea to the base, forcing a winding treacherous path through seemingly endless fields of ice and around mammoth icebergs. Other ships will follow behind. After resupplying, Southwind will set out alone further north into the Kane Basin and will conduct an oceanographic study in cooperation with the Naval Oceanographic Office, returning to the homeport of Baltimore, Md., in mid-October.

Boys Town, Grafton, Closes Its Doors

High cost of operation was blamed for yesterday's closing of the Boys Town of Illinois at Grafton. The Tri-Cities Area United Fund contributed $7000 toward the operation of the home last year.

Announcement of the closing was made yesterday by J. L. Gedney, president of the board of directors. An average of three to four local area youths were provided assistance at the home each year. In recent years, since its inception in 1938, the home cared for about 300 boys.

Gedney explained that in addition to the high costs of maintaining the home, courts and the state department of child and family services are taking over more responsibility to provide for boys of broken homes or with parents unable or unwilling to provide proper care.

The home also is supported by private organizations, individuals, businesses and the United Funds of Alton, Collinsville and Edwardsville.

Five Escaped County Jail Fugitives Still at Large

Five prisoners awaiting trial at the Madison county jail at Edwardsville overpowered guards and escaped Friday morning after arming themselves with shotguns and pistols.

A widespread search was started immediately for the men who fled in a sheriff's patrol car and then commandeered a black 1964 foreign compact auto from a Bunker Hill man on Route 159 north of Edwardsville. The search is still under way.

The fugitives are Louis Joseph Aratari, 25, of Albany, N.Y.; Robert Mouser, 40, of Santa Susana, Calif.; Joe Sparrow, 30, of Bethalto; Franklin Dewayne Hutson, 30, of Russellville, Ark.; and Robert Orville Bridges, 23, of East Alton. Aratari, alias Tony DeMarco, was being held on a charge of aggravated battery as he attempted to strike arresting Granite City officers with a sledge hammer after he was trapped in a vacant house in East Granite last month. He was shot by Police Chief Ronald Veizer and was hospitalized for several days. He is a parole violator from New York. Mouser was charged with armed robbery at the Town & Country lounge on Chain of Rocks road and at an Alton area establishment. Sparrow was recently sentenced to a prison term of one to 14 years for forgery and was awaiting trial on a charge of aggravated battery. Hutson is charged with robbery and aggravated battery and Bridges with aggravated battery.

Jailer Overpowered
The break occurred as Jailer Robert Kingsbury opened a jail cell to permit a trusty, Bridges, to remove trash cans. The other four, who had feigned sleep, suddenly jumped on Kingsbury and locked him in the cell after telling him they did not want to kill him.

Bridges, on orders to follow the routine schedule, took the can to the door to the dispatcher's office which was opened by jailer Dean Segar who was alone in the office at the time. The four inmates, who were hidden, then overpowered Segar and locked him up.

The escapes broke into a gun case and took two shotguns. One of them tried to break a gun case to obtain other guns but was making too much noise and stopped.

At that time dispatcher Jack Ladd, who had been in the kitchen for a brief coffee break, was spotted. Hutson pointed a gun at him from six feet away, and the others took Ladd's pistol. Ladd was locked up.

He called Edwardsville, police from a pay phone in the visitors room in the cell and then called Sheriff George Musso, who was in his living quarters at the jail.

Take Car Keys
The five men took keys to the patrol cars and left the building. They spotted trusty Paul Davis outside and one of them struck Davis in the mouth with a shotgun. The trusty was treated at Wood River township hospital for cuts to the lips and two broken teeth.

At 7:15 a.m. the sheriff's office received a call that a car was commandeered at Route 159 northwest of Edwardsville. Arthur Keller of Bunker Hill, a security guard at the Shell Oil Co. refinery who was en route to work, told deputies that he spotted the patrol car which he thought contained two men.

The sheriff's office was turned on, and Keller pulled over. The five men jumped out and ordered Keller out of his auto.

All Five Armed
Keller said all five were armed with three pistols, and two shotguns. Deputies were unable to explain where the other two pistols came from. They took Keller's wallet containing about $10, a gasoline credit card and identification papers. They ordered Keller to start walking. He headed in a westerly direction, and then was told to walk in the opposite direction, which he did. The escapees then drove away in the small auto.

After being alerted, state, city and county police in the region stalked out all bridges and interchanges, and two state police airplanes canvassed the area but failed to spot the fugitives.

At the time of his arrest here, Aratari told Granite City police that he did not intend to spend anymore time behind bars.

Still No Trace
Sheriff's deputies said at Edwardsville this morning that three days of intensive search has turned up no trace of the fugitives or the car in which they escaped.

"It's just as if they've disappeared off the face of the earth," Demos Nicholas, assistant chief deputy, said this morning. "We have no idea the deputies involved in an around-the-clock search of farm areas and locations where a car could be hidden, but there is no indication of where the prisoners went."

Disappearance of the car is what puzzles us. It is possible they are holed up at the home of a friend with the car hidden in a garage, or it also is possible they are holding a family as hostages with the car hidden in the garage. We even have been knocking on doors of farm homes to be sure the families are all right," Nicholas added.

GC Hula Hoop Champ To Compete in Chicago
Juli Domitrovich, 10-year-old Granite City champion in the hula hoop contest, held July 14 in the park district's summer program, will leave Wednesday night to compete in the 1969 Illinois State Championship contest to be held in Chicago. The contest will take place at McKinley Park on Thursday at 4:30 p.m.

The youngster, a student at Marshall school, will make the trip with her parents.

Parked Auto Hit
Kenneth Weizer, No. 12 Frontenac lane, reported to police Saturday afternoon that his auto was struck at the right front while parked on the Coachlite tavern lot at Nameki and Pontoon roads.

Traffic Mishap
Involved in a collision Sunday morning at 10th street and Madison avenue were autos of James Large, 15-18 Fourth street, and Michael Petrillo, 2407 Delmar avenue.

Hot Spell Sets New Record Power Demand

Soaring temperatures created a new record demand for electricity by customers of the Illinois Power Co. July 16, officials reported Friday.

Fans and air conditioners contributed to a new peak demand of 1,694,000 kilowatts between 3 and 4 p.m. That figure exceeds by 5.4% the previous peak of 1,607,389 set Aug. 25, 1968, over the 15,000 square miles served by I.P.C.

A use record also was established the same day with consumption of 32,604,000 kilowatt hours over the system. This was 3.8% over last year's peak usage of 31,395,850 on Aug. 21, 1968.

Two Awards for Retiring Madison Amvets Cmdr.

Two awards were presented to Stanley Krakowicki, past commander of Madison Amvets Post 204, by District Commander Leo Clements of Granite City, during a meeting of the Madison post Thursday evening. Krakowicki received a plaque for 1969 membership for the Madison Post, one of 20 posts in the state to be given the honor. The second award was presented by Clements in behalf of National Amvets Commander Joseph V. Ferraro for Krakowicki's achievement and distinguished work for Amvets and for the advancement of the local post.

During Thursday's meeting, newly-elected Commander Andrew Angeloff assumed his duties. He noted the success of the four-day, Amvets-sponsored Fourth of July Festival at the Madison junior high school grounds.

Vasil Graville, public relations officer, called for a membership campaign to enroll returning Vietnam veterans.

BLAIR SCHOOL HEAD START PUPILS, visiting the Venice fire and police station Thursday, found their inspection of the new bright red pumper a high point of the trip. Blair Head Start Pupils Visit Police, Fire Depts.

Question and more questions spill out of most four-and-five-year-olds without encouragement and a group of Head Start pupils from Blair school in Madison was no exception Thursday.

The youngsters were encouraged to ask about things they were seeing while on an educational field trip in Venice, during which they visited the Venice city hall, the fire station and police department and toured a Venice supermarket. And, ask questions they did.

Fielding most of the inquiries was Venice Assistant Police Chief Dewey Brawley, who had more than 25 interested children to keep him busy throughout a tour of the police and fire departments in the Venice city hall building.

The Head Start pupils, who are attending the six-week summer session at Blair school, were escorted by their teachers, Mrs. Mary Medley and Mrs. Virginia Washington, assisted by Head Start aides.

Finalists Selected for JC's State Sports Jamboree Here

Last of the contenders for state finals of the 14th annual Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree were selected over the weekend for the finals Aug. 7-9 in Granite City.

About 8500 boys and girls, all winners in local Jamborees, advanced to regional competition, according to Peter B. Bensing, chairman of the Illinois Youth Commission.

The commission sponsors the track and field competition in cooperation with the Illinois Jaycees.

A maximum of 500 youngsters, representing first place winners in each event at the regionals, will be eligible to compete at Granite City, making the expense-paid trip in guests of the Youth Commission.

Largest of the regional meets scheduled for Saturday was held at Chicago's Rockwell stadium, where nearly 1000 young athletes competed for the 50 berths on the Chicago team. They survived earlier competitions in 23 of the city's parks, playgrounds and housing projects.

Dual goals of the program are to provide constructive activity for young people and to encourage an early interest in physical fitness, Chairman Bensing said. "Every child can compete" is the Jamboree slogan, and special efforts are made to recruit entries from children in small towns, inner city neighborhoods and other such areas. An estimated 40,000 children compete in local Jamboree meets each summer in more than 200 communities.

Madison Man Beaten In Fight with 2 Men

A Madison man told police he was severely beaten by two men about 2:50 p.m. Saturday after he asked them to move their car so he could back out of a parking place in the 1000 block of Market street.

Carter Welker, 27, of 819 Staunton street, said he got into his car and asked the two men who were parked alongside him to move their car. He said they refused. He asked them to move it, he told officers, and both men got out and swung at him.

According to reports to police, the two men then ran into Damm's IGA Market. Welker said he followed them and was then beaten by the men. As police arrived, Welker asked them to arrest the two men, but police said they also were approached by the two men who asked police to arrest Welker on grounds that he had followed them into the store armed with a tire iron and that they had defended themselves in striking him. No arrests were made.

Miss Granite City at Aurora for Miss Illinois Fete

With the well-wishes of Granite City Jaycees ringing in her ears and echoing the sentiments of her many friends and admirers in the community, Miss Dottie Carolyn DeWitt departed yesterday for Aurora in quest of the coveted Miss Illinois crown and the opportunity to compete in September for the title of Miss America.

The new Miss Granite City, who became one of a long line of talented and lovely girls to represent the community with her selection for the title on June 14, was accompanied to the Miss Illinois Pageant by her official chaperone and good friends, Mrs. Sandra Noth Innes.

Mrs. Innes is employed at the First Granite City National Bank, where the title-holder has been working as a receptionist and hostess for the past several weeks. The bank also served as official sponsor for Miss DeWitt in the recent contest.

In addition to her summer job, Dottie has been practicing diligently since she was conferred with the title in the auditorium of Granite City high school, over a field of eight attractive young women.

Practicing at Campus

She has been assisted in sharpening her talent presentation—a wowing rendition of "Walking Happy," from the Broadway musical of the same name, by David P. Moore, a professor of voice in the music department of Southern Illinois University—Southwestern campus.

As late as Friday afternoon, the young woman was busy rehearsing under the supervision of the professor at the local campus.

Upon her arrival in Aurora yesterday, Dottie formally registered as a state pageant contestant and received her official certification.

Prior to the start of the Miss Illinois preliminary competitions on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, the Granite City candidate will join nearly 50 other successful local contestants for a parade through the downtown business district of Aurora, followed with a reception, and other special activities planned by the Illinois Jaycees and Aurora civic leaders.

Leading up to the final Saturday night, preliminary contests will be conducted on three successive evenings dur-
